CIA Chief Says US No Longer Dominant Power

In a surprising turn of events, the CIA chief William Burns published an op ed in Foreign Affairs magazine that aligns with Mike Adams' statements made yesterday about the world no longer being afraid of the US Empire. Burns states that the United States no longer enjoys "uncontested primacy," making it clear that the country is no longer the dominant power in the world, not just militarily and economically, but also as a naval power.

FAA Secret Code Words for Black Aviation Students Resumes

A shocking story from revolver news reveals that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has created secret code words for black aviation students' resumes to push them to the front of the line, bypassing other more qualified individuals. This is part of the DEI philosophy, which promotes diversity, equity, and inclusion while giving advantages to black people or trans people over white and Asian people.

Israel's War with Palestine and Hamas

As the war between Israel and the Palestinian militant group Hamas escalates, there are concerns that it may expand to other fronts such as Lebanon. This has prompted the global credit rating agency S&P to warn that it could cut Israel's sovereign credit rating if the conflict expands and negatively affects their economy. Additionally, evidence of Israeli forces dressed as medics raiding a hospital in Jenin to murder specific patients highlights ongoing war crimes and further tensions between the two nations.

Chicken Plant Fire in Texas: More Food Sabotage?

A massive fire at Feather Crest Farms in Texas raises suspicions of more food sabotage, as multiple chicken houses burn down, leading to a loss of life for many chickens. This adds to the ongoing concerns about the safety of our food supply chain, as well as the need for individuals to secure their own food supplies through means such as growing their own food or having backup plans in place.

US Debt Spiral: Nassim Taleb's Warning

Nassim Taleb, author of Black Swan, warns that the US is facing a death spiral of swelling debt and that only a miracle can reverse the problem. The absolute level of US public debt is now at a "scary" number, with the federal debt topping $34 trillion for the first time in history, impacting an average American family of three with debt of approximately $102,000 per family. Unfunded liabilities stand at $212 trillion, or $631,000 per citizen, making it clear that the US government is heading towards a collapse that will affect all aspects of life and society.

US Banks Warned About Pushing for ESG Investing

A dozen Republican state agricultural commissioners have penned a letter to six US mega banks, informing them that pushing for ESG investing may lead to food price increases and impact food availability. They criticize the banks' membership in the United Nations-organized group called Net Zero banking Alliance (NZBA), which aims to finance ambitious climate action, potentially harming American farming and ranching operations by promoting an agenda that prioritizes wind turbines and solar panels over energy sources such as diesel fuel.

As these issues continue to unfold, it is clear that the United States and other countries around the world are facing unprecedented challenges in terms of food security, economic stability, and political power dynamics. It is crucial for individuals to stay informed and proactive in securing their own well-being by making smart choices about where they invest their money, how they manage their finances, and what kind of actions they take to ensure their personal safety and security in an increasingly volatile and uncertain world.
